MANTECA CITY VISION

The City of Manteca is a thriving city with a small town feel whose heart is rooted in family values, patriotic tradition, and community service. Our community embraces diversity, innovation, and recreation. We are the Family City.

THE COMMUNITY

This is an exciting time to be in Manteca. Known as the “Crossroads of California” due to its location between the Bay Area and Sacramento region, Manteca is in the midst of evolution, both within the walls of City Hall and throughout the community. The City continues to preserve its “small-town” atmosphere and live up to its designation of “The Family City”, yet it is also welcoming progress and modernization as the second fastest growing city in California.

Sitting seventy-five miles southeast of San Francisco and approximately sixty miles south of Sacramento, Manteca’s location has spurred rapid population growth, transitioning the City from a farming town to a bedroom community populated by Silicon Valley and Sacramento commuters. The shift to work-from-home culture over the past year has augmented the population even further, turning it toward young families and encouraging those former commuters to settle into the Manteca way of life. With a current population of over 87,000, Manteca is attracting new residents every day with its 70 neighborhood and community parks, public library, municipal golf course, thirteen elementary schools, four high schools and adult education school. Offering both rural and suburban living in its 20.9 square miles, the City provides a balance of diverse housing options, with the average sale price of three- and four-bedroom homes at approximately $585,000.

Manteca’s prime location along Highway 120 – a major east-west connector from San Francisco to Yosemite National Park – and Highway 99 – one of California’s longest north-south connector freeways – makes this community an ideal location for residents. You could be grabbing dinner on the wharf in San Francisco in just over an hour, or enjoying the great outdoors of Lake Tahoe or Yosemite National Park in under two.

THE ROLE: HUMAN RESOURCES DIRECTOR

THE IDEAL CANDIDATE

The City of Manteca believes progressive leadership from City staff is critical to the future of the community. The City of Manteca team strives to implement positive change, provide creative solutions and identify innovative approaches to advance all departments and better serve the community. Members of the City's leadership team are expected to think, act and operate at a strategic level, and provide programmatic and effective solutions, while adapting and adjusting to an evolving work environment.

The City of Manteca is looking for a professional with a servant leadership philosophy, the highest level of integrity and a track record of increasing responsibility within a Human Resources Department. The Director of Human Resources will be inclusive, collaborative, transparent, empathetic, committed to accountability and able to motivate and maximize the skills of staff. The ideal candidate will need to be self-confident, have an approachable management style and be comfortable addressing and resolving personnel issues head-on. The ideal candidate would also place a strong focus on staff engagement and demonstrate a dedication to continually improve morale and quality of work in the City. The position requires someone who has broad experience working in a city organized with labor groups such as public safety, serving as a Risk Manager and directing the activities and operations of a Human Resources Department. Demonstrated success in labor negotiations is highly desirable.

QUALIFICATIONS

The Director of Human Resources will serve as an integral member of the Executive Management Team and oversee the City's Human Resources and Risk Management functions, including programs associated with employee administration, recruitment, employee labor relations, benefits administration, employee training and development and more. A typical way to obtain the knowledge and abilities required would include:

- Graduation from an accredited college or university with a bachelor's degree in human resources, business management, public administration, organizational development or a closely related field. A master's degree in a related field is highly desirable.
- Five years of increasingly responsible experience in the administration of a human resources department, including three years of supervisory experience.
